ST. PETERSBURG
AND CHOLERAA Virulent Type of Malady That Brings Death in Fifteen Minutes.

ST. PETERSBURG, September 20.—St. Petersburg is in the grasp of the Asiatic cholera, which already has extended in severity and numbers the visitation of 1893. The disease is increasing daily at an alarming rate, and unless the authorities show in the future a much greater degree of ability to cope with the situation than they have in the past there is every reason to fear that it will get out of hand.

The government's threat to apply the provisions of martial law has driven the municipality officials to bend all their energies to clearing the city of the scourge. The aldermanic council today voted $250,000 to enlarge the hospital space, to purchase and distribute disinfectants, the supply of which in St. Petersburg is well nigh exhausted. The dead houses are overcrowded and many corpses lie unburied.

Under his authority as prefect of St. Petersburg, General Drachefsky on Saturday prohibited the sale of liquor throughout the city, including the government vodka shops, until September 22, and he has further ordered that after that the sale of liquor shall be suspended at 2 p. m. on Saturday until 10 a. m. Monday.

Die in Fifteen Minutes.

A beginning was made today when public schools were transformed into hospital wards. A number of the grammar schools were closed and 4000 students sent to their homes. The department of war has opened stores to supply immediate needs, and army field kitchens have been dispatched to the poorer quarters to dispense free food.

The situation assumes a graver aspect from the appearance today of a very virulent type of the disease in two cases of which death followed within fifteen minutes of the first symptom.

As announced by the official bulletins, the cases numbered 349 and the deaths 128 during the twenty-four hours between Friday noon and Saturday noon. The record for the same twenty-four hours ascertained from unofficial, but reliable, sources, shows the actual number to have been far in excess of that. From Saturday noon until Sunday noon there were 398 cases and 141 deaths, this being the largest number so far.

May Last Two Weeks.

It is feared that the cholera will last another fortnight, being figured on the basis of former epidemics. All varieties of Asiatic cholera have now developed here, there being numerous cases of the Algid type, which is accompanied by the greatest suffering.

The metropolitan of St. Petersburg caused prayers for deliverance to be read throughout the diocese today, in which the pestilence is described as a punishment for the people's lawlessness.

Premier Stolypin has sharply reprimanded the municipal officials for the appalling conditions. At Obuchov hospital, which he visited on Saturday, he found that three bathrooms were doing service for 300 patients. Three of the nurses at this institution were stricken with the disease yesterday, making a total of nine nurses now under treatment for cholera.

Practically nothing has been done up to the present to put the city's market places in a sanitary condition; they are places of indescribable filth. One hundred carloads of fruit have been auctioned off and forwarded to Warsaw, Vilna and other towns, which the cholera has not invaded, and the possibility of infection from this source is very great.

Careless With Cholera.

As a city St. Petersburg is woefully unsanitary and the dread disease finds here the conditions most suitable for its appearance among the poor people herded in wretched tenements, but it is now spreading to the better classes and it has broken out in the barracks among the troops. The authorities have every warning of the coming of the disease.

Cholera cases have been conveyed to the hospitals in city cabs, which are very numerous in St. Petersburg, after which these same cabs were permitted without disinfection to return to their work on the streets.

The cholera was first reported this year about the end of July. The disease spread rapidly into the provinces along the Volga, down both coasts of the Caspian and in the territory of the Don Cossacks; in other words, in the eastern and southeastern districts of European Russia. By the end of August there was an average of 1200 cases reported each week, with a mortality of upward of 50 per cent.

All Over the Empire.

On August 14 it was announced that St. Petersburg was threatened with the scourge, and on September 8 it was definitely established that the disease was in the capital. On September 10 there were fifty cases there, and the disease was prevalent in all quarters of the city.

Advices from all parts of Russia show that the alarm is very general and that there is good reason for it. At Moscow a quarantine has been established at all railway depots and passengers are placed under the strictest surveillance. Up to the present Moscow has been immune. A death has occurred at Helsingfors from the disease, and the Russian steamers have been denied entrance to Viborg harbor for exuding quarantine at Transgund, a roadstead eight miles from that port. Several suspicious cases have been reported in the Finnish archipelago, where the imperial family are cruising.

Neva Waters Contaminated.

Twenty-nine cases and six deaths were reported from Odessa on Saturday. German authorities have taken precautions to prevent the disease crossing the frontier. Austria has done the same thing; Sweden and other

TO THE VOTERS
City and County of Honolulu

I have been persuaded by the solicitations of friends, and in opposition to my original intention, to consent to have my name presented as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of the City and County of Honolulu.

The number of candidates already in the field makes it evident that unusual efforts will be put forth to secure the suffrages of the voters at the coming election. It devolves, therefore, upon each one to consider the issues that are at stake, to weigh carefully the merits of each candidate and to cast his ballot for the one who has proven himself by his actions, rather than to entrust to an untried hand, the management of an office of such weighty responsibility and of such complexity as the Police Department, of the City and County of Honolulu.

My administration of the Police Department during the past two years calls for no defence. It has been at all times open and above board, and, I am proud to say, has not only satisfied the just expectations of those who favored me with their suffrages two years ago, but has won for me the approbation of many whom I could not claim as adherents of the same political party. More than this, I feel that I can justly claim that no adverse criticism has been able to touch my administration in a vital point.

The great need of Honolulu and of Oahu in this department, as in all others, is a wise and determined enforcement of the laws—the wisdom that comes from experience, the determination that comes from a courageous acceptance of responsibility.

It is, perhaps, too much the fashion for candidates to regard their oaths and pledges merely on ladders by which to climb to office; no one, however, who is acquainted with my record will be able to lay any such charge to my door.

To my countrymen of kindred blood, I unhesitatingly offer my candidature as of one who has a lifelong acquaintance with their inmost feelings and wants, and who can sympathize with their ambitions, and who at no time has alienated himself from their affections.

This is the land of my birth. Let us maintain its honor and the purity of its governmental institutions.

I am your fellow citizen,

nearby countries have declared a quarantine against Russia, and France is ready to meet any exigencies that may arise.

Cholera made its appearance in Russia last year, but it was confined to the southern and southwestern provinces and did not get to the capital. The cold weather during the latter part of October and the earlier weeks of November checked its spread and by the first of December it had practically disappeared.

This year, however, it has had what may be termed a flying start and it is sweeping over the city in a manner to bring alarm to all classes. It is believed now that the waters of the Neva are contaminated.
